Parental Responsibilities

It is the parent/custodian responsibility to report all violations of probation to the Probation Officer, including, but not limited to curfew violations, truancy, social media usage violations, home rule violations and suspected drug use. The parent/guardian will be supportive and participate in any program, treatment, or aftercare service the child is directed to complete. The parent/custodian will insure that the child is properly enrolled in school. If the parent/guardian should seek to change the educational setting for the probationer, the parent/guardian will get the consent from the Probation Officer prior to any change in enrollment. As parent/custodian, we acknowledge the responsibility in payment of any services and/or assessments (including drug and alcohol tests) ordered by the court. If the parent/custodian does not cooperate with the Court, Ohio law allows for a parent/custodian to be charged with a crime for contributing to the unruliness or delinquency of a child. A conviction could result in a fine and/ or a jail sentence.

I understand the above terms and have received a copy of the terms of probation.
